2	National Security Strategy and Programme of Action – Status update DPMC provided an update on the National Security Strategy and Programme of Action. In 2022, DPMC conducted a National Security Policy Review which concluded with Cabinet endorsing its findings and directing a National Security Strategy be developed. This work is part of the national security system reform work DPMC has been leading in response to recommendations 1, 2 and 3 of the Royal Commission of Inquiry’s report (the RCOI report). It is intended to apply the lessons learnt from the RCOI report to how national security risks and how the system is arranged. DPMC noted that once approved by Cabinet, the National Security Strategy would be publicly launched.
3	National Security Reform – Machinery of Government DPMC provided an update on the work on changes to the national security system, which relates to recommendations 1, 2 and 3.
4	Kāpuia – forward agenda for 2023 The Kāpuia Secretariat outlined the roopu’s draft forward work programme for 2023. There would be a focus on panel sessions where agencies with related workstreams would engage together with Kāpuia. As an example, agencies that focus on digital and online safety would come along to a hui at the same time. Hui would be held in March, May, July, and August. Plans for a hui following the election would be made closer to the time. In February 2023, Kāpuia wrote a letter to the Lead Coordination Minister a summarising advice the roopu provided to Ministers and agencies in 2022. The letter was circulated to Ministers responsible for the RCOI. In line with Kāpuia’s TOR, the letter and the Minister’s response would be published on the DPMC website in due course. New Action (number 33): DPMC to circulate Kāpuia’s letter of advice to the Lead Coordination Minister from 7 February 2023 to RSG after the meeting.
5	Agency updates The Chair invited agencies to provide updates on their workstreams. Update on the Social Cohesion work programme and the Collective Impact Board The Ministry of Social Development (MSD) had been working with the Collective Impact Board (the Board) which had raised policy themes for consideration. MSD explained that the process for raising issues was that the Board would refer matters to the Kaiwhakaoranga Case Management Service – if these were unable to be resolved operationally, they were escalated by the Board for policy consideration. Once an issue was escalated, MSD policy triaged the issues to determine whether it aligned with MSD’s responsibilities or whether another agency or agencies had a mandate to consider it. MSD referred the issue to the most appropriate team for consideration. The following issues had been raised and were being progressed: <ul style="list-style-type: none">• study and training opportunities for widows of the March 15 victims;• payment of residence visa fees; and• the use of Community Services card. MSD was preparing advice on future direction of the social cohesion work programme to be provided to Minister Radhakrishnan. MSD was also developing a guide for policy analysts to think about social cohesion more broadly. Update on Preventing and Countering Violent Extremism (PCVE) strategic framework and fund <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Recommendation 4 directs a development of a counter-terrorism strategy with consultation with the public. The strategic framework was developed in 2022 following 50 hui with 400 people across New Zealand. This was delivered to the previous Prime Minister and DPMC is now working with the current Prime Minister to get the framework finalised and launched.
